

Abstract

The present invention provides novel coordination complexes, methods for synthesizing and identifying coordination complexes using combinatorial techniques, and assaying for their activity. In certain embodiments, the subject coordination complexes contain platinum.

20090320 230600